

Plant Biosecurity Management Course

2010 Edition

Resources to Engage Agricultural Producers
in U.S. Biosecurity
Efforts

Available online, the Plant Biosecurity Management Course 2010 Edition is designed for Extension advisors, agents, specialists, and others who recognize the need for improved plant biosecurity education in their communities. Extension professionals, along with emergency managers and public health officials, who have taken this course say they gained an important understanding of potential plant biosecurity events.

This course will prepare you with the knowledge and skills necessary to teach others in your community how to:

- prepare for a plant biosecurity event
- appropriately respond to and recover from a plant biosecurity event
- reduce the effects of future plant biosecurity events

The following materials provided in this course are for you to use at producer workshops and/or community awareness presentations:

- ready-to-use presentations
- applied activity guidelines
- master documents for handouts

The EDEN Plant Biosecurity Management Course is readily available for you to complete at your own pace: <http://www.eden.lsu.edu/EDENCourses>

The course is also available on CD-ROM. Please contact: Steve Cain at Purdue University

Supported by

Developed for EDEN by the University of Missouri Extension, with Support from USDA.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) prohibits discrimination in all its programs and activities on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age, disability, political beliefs, sexual orientation, and marital or family status. (Not all prohibited bases apply to all programs.) Persons with disabilities who require alternative means for communication of program information (Braille, large print, audiotape, etc.) should contact USDA's TARGET Center at (202) 720-2600 (voice and TDD). To file a complaint of discrimination write USDA, Director, Office of Civil Rights, Room 326-W, Whitten Building, 14th and Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, DC 20250-9410 or call (202) 720-5964 (voice or TDD). USDA is an equal opportunity provider and employer.